This series of sessions will provide support for teaching assistants and support staff in the areas of behaviour management, inclusive learning and successful interventions.

The course is suitable for any support staff working within Early Years and Primary settings.

By attending these sessions support staff will

- Develop understanding of behaviour management theories, universal design for learning and creating SMART targets for progress.
- Developing strategies to support inclusive practice.
- Increase confidence designing and delivering interventions, managing behaviour and supporting vulnerable pupils

Sessions will be delivered by senior lecturers Victoria Pugh and Joanne Smith, amongst other colleagues in the School of Education at the University of Worcester.
