

Dementia Care in a Community Setting

HESC3111

This module is designed for dementia specialists or dementia “champions” working in a variety of community based settings including care homes, domiciliary care, housing, intermediate care and community with people with dementia and their families.

Through the course of this module, students will explore and consider a range of models and paradigms in dementia care including Professor Tom Kitwood’s Enriched Model of Dementia Care (Kitwood 1997), and Professor Dawn Brooker’s V.I.P.S framework and demonstrate its application to the work setting (Brooker 2007) and their application in guiding practice.

This module will enable students to develop the knowledge and skills necessary for them to plan a range of strategies for supporting people living with dementia and their families.

Assessment:

Written assignment (essay) – 3,000 words.
