1.2 Self-Assessment of Professional Development for Planning Learning

Following the experiences of your previous placement, re-assess your professional development prior to the start of this placement. You should consider previous learning and life experiences. Together with the form below these will form the basis of your initial interview with your Practice Educator where you will identify personal and placement specific learning needs and objectives that complement the modular learning outcomes.

1.3 Summary of Previous Practice Learning and Goals for Future Learning

Before you begin the placement, reflect on your learning from your previous placement and the skills you have developed. Record the skills and knowledge learned - you may refer back to your previous PLD for ideas. Some skills will need further development and there may be some gaps in your knowledge and skills related to the type of experiences you have had. From these reflections, you will be able to identify some broad learning goals for this placement – please seek help from the placement team or your Personal Academic Tutor if required. These will form the basis of your initial interview with your Practice Educator.
